ANOTHER LARGE LOT OF PATENT SELF HEATING
SMOOTHING IRONS!

MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century; relieving and facilitating the labor of men by machinery, and other modern implements; but females have been nearly neglected until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron, which will relieve them, in a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor of ironing, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and despatch—one cent's worth of dry charcoal supplies fuel for a whole day's constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room or in the open air. Hatters' and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and possess equal superiority.

Look to the Issues.

The Republican party, its men and its measures are assailed with great bitterness by the disappointed politicians of other parties. It would seem, indeed, as if the vituperative English language must soon fail these gentlemen in the selection of epithets wherewith to express their indignation at the new state of things. This denunciation and abuse is severe, is of very little consequence. It is a matter of course, and was to be expected, in the nature of things. Whatever course might have been taken, whatever measures adopted, or with no measures made, the result would have been the same. There would be the determination to find fault, to be represented as villains, and traitors, and nothing else should have been looked for. I care for no threats to come and do precisely what it is worth, as soon as Boston will accept a fair statement.

Whatever may be said about the Republican organization, by its opponents, there is one thing which the people of Maine must see clearly and which cannot be gainsayed—that in the success of this organization lies the only hope of keeping the State out of the great struggle of freedom and temperance which have now become the political issues in this country. Let any rational man ask himself what would be the consequences to the cause of the Republican party as long as these principles are concerned. Would it not redound to the benefit of the temperance cause? Would it not arrest among the slave power, or in resulting in encroachments upon the territories of the Union? On the contrary, who, in looking at the elements which are arraying against us, can doubt that the defeat of the Republican party, and the triumph of its enemies would result in the overthrow of the Maine Law and eventually of the whole principle of prohibition, and also in an entire change of the influence of Maine, on the slavery question—from a stern resistance of the schemes of the slave power, to crawling submission on all new compromises? The last campaign was fought upon these great principles, and by the success of those who are now arrayed under the Republican banner, Maine thus its influence in behalf of freedom.

The question now is—shall she remain there—shall her influence continue in that direction—or shall she miserably retreat, and say that these great principles are not worth the efforts which is necessary to maintain them?

Let every candid and thoughtful man ask the question of the Maine Law (upon which our present state administration is to be most strongly opposed) and ask itself what it desires it to be repealed or rendered nugatory. Perhaps he may regard some of its provisions as not exactly what he would wish but upon the whole does he not see good to be about only—is its operation great upon the liquor traffic to be withdrawn? In a word, terms—Ought the sale of intoxicating liquor as a beverage, to be stopped? Is it desirable to stop it? Or shall we go back to the only alternative, the old system of licensing the traffic, authoritatively establish temple grog shops upon every corner and in every second grocery where rel and men may resort to drink, drunkards according to law, and temptation be again placed in the way of all our youth? There are few, we think, who desire to go back to the state of things. And yet, what better would be the effect of placing men in power who are sworn enemies of the Maine Law, either openly or secretly—men who, under the pretence of taking away temptation, would restore it by taking away its strength, because it to be enforced operation, and in order to make it more easy to do it from the state statute book, as authors and place the power in the hands of those who are now desperate, at our first meeting to overthrow the present Sectet administration, and how long before that statute would be a dead letter? How long before there would be loopholes enough in it to let through half the liquor dealers in christendom? How long before the executive places in the State, and the judicial offices, would be filled with men who, in conscience would be altogether against the enforcement of liquor dealers?

If the people desire the success of the Maine Law, let them listen to the slanders of its opponents against the Republican movement—let them go to the polls and vote for men who are to be set up in opposition to them, as if they thought it to be an engine of the talk about "agitation," "fanaticism," "secret societies." It is all to one end—the restoration of the ancient regime of politicians and the ancient regime of rum-shops. If such restoration is desirable, in the eyes of the people, they will doubtless overturn the work which they accomplished last year; but we have too much reliance upon the intelligence and firmness of the voters of Maine to believe that that revolution is to go backward.

Good grafting cloth may be made by taking old sandy cotton cloth and saturating it with ointment made of one part tallow, one part beeswax and two parts rosin. John Sargent, esq., of this city, says that he has been very successful with this cloth, and finds it much easier to work than new cloth, and is more durable and not as likely to bind the graft at the right time—now to graft this season and the above recipe may be found useful.

It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that the New England Bards will give a Concert at City Hall, on Friday evening next. They are well spoken of.

Variety.

The editor of the Amherst N. H. Cabinet intimates that unless his delinquent subscribers pay up, he will take a tour of the country and "board round," which we think a capital idea. Many editors could do it in a way both sound for a score of years, thus eating the boosmey of a country feast.

There are 19 locomotive shops in the United States, 13 of which are west of the Alleghanies. These works are capable of producing 1293 locomotives per annum. About 400 engines are required yearly to replace and depreciation of existing engines. Thirty-fifty are required for new roads, and for the increase on business on existing roads, 2000 miles of new road, opened yearly, requires about 500 engines for full equipment.

Ezra Meacham of Charlotte, besides weighing 400 pounds, has the largest farm in Vermont, keeps 300 head of cattle and 2,000 sheep, cultivates 30 acres of wheat, 40 of rye, 13 of corn, 30 of potatoes, 27 of beans and 40 of oats; 250 acres are mowed and 600 acres are pastured as a meadow.

An Indian who was quite sighted, and about to fight a duel, insisted that he should take an axe to cut his body in twain so that the other did by him, and they were both to die at the same time.

The Boston Courier, in a great truth remarks that the United states expend more of the real success of life and more of the unnecessary sickness, than any other nation in the world.

A lady dabbleress, to puzzle a phrenologist, asked him—"What kind of people were those which the destructiveness and benevolence equally and largely developed?" "Those, madam, are the people that kill with kindness."

A manufacturer of parasols says that the "height of impudence" is taking shelter in an umbrella during a thunder storm.

Take the bear's skull,

It will sing of the sea.
So take the wind heart

It will sing of hearts cold
To the ends of the earth.

Life is made up, not of great sacrifices or duties, but of little things in which smiles and kindnesses, and small obligations, given habitually, are what most preserve the heart and secure happiness.

Our industrious correspondent at Cherryfield furnishes us with the following news items:

Melancholy Accident.—A little daughter of Mr Hobert Delano of Cherryfield, aged five years, was instantly killed this afternoon (16th) by being run over by a timber loaded wagon. One of the hind wheels passed over the body and shockingly crushed and mangled it. It is not known how this terrible accident was caused, but it is supposed the child ran between the wheels to pick up a piece of the load and fell. The driver was not to blame. She had just come out of a school, and was going home. The agon of the mother, who lives near, the scene of the disaster, on discovering her murdered child, was truly rending and indescribable.

A New Way of being paid in the Gutter.—Mr Prazer, or "Cuffee," a few days since, a negro, belonging to Salisbridge, was carrying home a log containing five gallons of rum, stretching across his shoulders by a rope. In going down a hill he slipped and fell and brought the rope round his neck, and the weight of the keg drawing tight to his throat, he was so strangled by the rope, that he could not help himself, and of another man had not, by chance, soon after found him in this predicament, and relieved him, by cutting the rope, he would have died. When discovered, he could not speak.

Sunday School in Bangor.—The following is a schedule of the attendance at the several Sabbath Schools in Bangor, Sunday, April 8, 1855:

Hammond street Church,	273
Second Baptist, (Columbia st.)	201
Central,	231
First Parish,	195
First Methodist,	171
First Baptist,	107
Mr. Hobart's,	127
Universalist,	120
Unitarian,	114
Second Methodist,	119
Essex St.,	70
Hancock,	60
Buckstreet,	50
Total,	1960

The number in attendance at all the schools is probably more than 2500, and the average attendance may be set down at 2000.—Mercury.

* Hobart's First Baptist, by mistake, omitted from the schedule.

Arrest of a Murderer.—Mr J. Austin Graham a wealthy, and until recently a respected citizen of Martinsville, Virginia, but who recently, at a hotel in Taylorsville, deliberately murdered a negro servant by the name of Spillon, and twice fired a pistol, with pistol shots, several other individuals, who were sitting peacefully in a room, has been arrested, and now awaits the regular course of law. The Lynchburg Republican gives the following account of his capture:

There were different parties out in pursuit of him, in the neighborhood of his plantation. It seems he was attempting to get to his house from the mountain in the rear of it, to get something to eat. There were twenty-one persons in pursuit, among them John Galaway and James Lubin were prominent, on the side of the mountain, and first discovered him. Lubin fired at 70 yards off. He drew a pistol, offered to resist, but they called out to him that it was not worth while, as he could not kill more than one, and that they would certainly kill him. He then called them back if they would arrest him and hedge in, and that they would not let him be hurt, he would give himself up. They agreed to it, and he disarmed himself by laying down his pistols and knife. He said he was nearly starved and frozen. They then arrested him and took off his pistols, to attract the attention of the other parties, who soon came up. It was, we understand, with considerable difficulty, at that, they could save him from the vengeance of the other parties, who desired to hang him without judge or jury. He behaved very well, and although the people are very much exasperated, it is not probable that he will suffer any personal violence.

The War in the Crimea. The reports by the Washington steamer of sorties from the Russian lines, which are driven back, "with great slaughter," appear to be only a part of the series of warfare which the forces of Sebastopol plan upon invaders. Some parties are always intended to be cut off, they have accomplished the work which they intend in the beginning, of harassing the enemy. Gen Canrobert and Lord Raglan have written despatches relating to these engagements but by their accounts they were only small affairs. The Liverpool Times, discourses upon them thus

It is now doubted, or well established quarters, whether it is possible to take Sebastopol at all, or, well as it been strongheaded since the allies (the) landed in the Crimea. The Turks at Eupatoria have had one or two small brushes with the Russian outposts; but they, like the Russians, have been stress, throwing their positions by the erection of additional earthworks, so that Eupatoria is regarded as impregnable. In all this there is little ground for consolation. The weather continues to be very changeable, but fine on the whole—so fine, indeed, that the Russians are receiving ample supplies and munitions of war. Until some decisive battle has been fought on the open country before Sebastopol, the present unsatisfactory state of things is likely to continue.

Prince Gortschakoff died at Sebastopol on the 8th (20th) instant, in the evening.

Below is an extract of a letter from an officer to his brother in Edinburgh, dated Balaklava, March 9:

"The misery here has been great. In the Guards, out of 2500 men, they now muster 300, and I fear yet great (I cannot say greater) loss, for as soon as the hot weather comes on, I believe a pestilence will break out amongst us, if we are not removed from it—there are so many carcasses buried close to the town with but a scraping of earth over them, and the whole place covered with thousands of dead carcasses of horses, &c, which will pollute the whole air as far as we occupy, the harbor, too, is very bad."

Advices from Odessa, of the 18th state that the death of Prince Menschikoff is false.

The Peace Negotiations. The reports of the negotiations at Vienna vary with every day's despatch. Thus the London papers stated on Tuesday that the Vienna reports were "unsatisfactory," on Wednesday they were "unsatisfactory," on Thursday, "negotiations" and on Friday "continuance of." In relation to the affair, the Times says

We did raise our voice against the platform upon which it was said did not include the reduction of Sebastopol, as the previous success of our arms did not warrant us in insisting on a condition which the fortunes of war and not yet placed in our hands. But should the conferences be ultimately broken off the in stance attached to our operations in the Crimea, and their result would become the real criterion of success or defeat. There is however, one further chance of negotiation, though a faint one. It is not altogether impossible that the answer expected from St. Petersburg may be in the form of some counter project on which discussion may be renewed. We, however, do not request that any proposal likely to be put forward by the Russian Government at this time can be regarded as practicable or sincere.

The visit of M. Drouyn de Lhuys to England, was to confer with Lord Clarendon on the difficulty which it is alleged has arisen upon the third point at the conferences. Having ascertained the ultimatum of the English cabinet he returned to consult the Emperor, and it is said he will then proceed to Vienna to assist M. de Bourqueney in the conferences. Hence, it would appear from the rumors which are afloat, his return is for the moment—Perhaps a reason for such conduct may be found in the report that Turkey yes will not get the free passage of the Dardanelles guaranteed for her in all equal powers, and she fears that she will be no longer free, but that each power will be meddling with her affairs.

The Paris Moniteur of the 27 has the following article on the death of Nicholas.

It is not becoming great nations such as ours to rejoice in the death of an adversary, no matter how powerful, but all the world will recognize that in sorrow, some tears shed for the sovereign who engaged in a hand of God has caused to disappear the great obstacle to the peace of the world.

The official character of the paper gives weight to its observations, and the parliamentary tone of the article is put down with speculation as to the expectations of the government.

The London Times thus Crimean Matters. The issue of the 27 has further receipts some reported successes of the Allied troops over the Russians who had attacked them.

We accept for all they are worth these indications of improvement in the aspect of our affairs, and we heartily wish that we could extend these encouraging signals and tokens to all the circumstances of our military position, but unfortunately the latest despatches from the allied camp, not the private communications we receive from numerous authentic sources, are of a nature to heighten our confidence—And we cannot but regret that with considerable safety the short character of our operations at a moment which appears to us to be in the highest degree critical. The object of exposing the troops of the allied armies to a hard winter passed among the bleak hills and damp ravines before Sebastopol, was to enable them to take effective advantage of the first return of the dry season, and especially of that interval during which the Russians must still be cut off from their reinforcements.

We are unwilling to prejudge the conduct of the Allied Generals. We hope that the successful engagements of the 17th of March, may be speedily followed by more decisive results, but it is impossible not to remark that of late all the originality and enterprise shown in these operations, has been on this side of the Russians, while the French and English armies seem condemned to the commonplace idea to remain on the defensive with their lines.

Yet their numbers are reported to be not far short of 120,000 men—a force amply sufficient to undertake with success two or three distinct operations of warfare on a scale of action so contrasted as the sortie of the Crimea, in presence of an enemy not now superior in numbers, while we cannot see some abundant means of transport to every part of the coast.

Later from Mexico.—Charleston, April 14. The British steamer Clyde arrived at Havana on the 8th, in six days from the city of Vera Cruz.

Everything indicates the speedy fall of Santa Anna, it being the general opinion he will be obliged to fly.

The report of Moreno's desertion and his subsequent capture and execution is said to have been all a fable to cut up Alvarez.

Col. Hires was recently dismantled at Cotes, and its whole regiment dispersed by the revolutionists. A number of his men, in attempting to cross the Papajayo river were drowned.

Gen. Maximo Ortes, while on a march to Tehuantepec, fell into an ambuscade, and his whole force of 600 men was nearly annihilated.

It is evident that the allied power have stimulated the Mexican interna commotion in order to bring Mexico on the side of identity with Cuba.

Repeal of the Maine Law.—New York, April 16. Mayor Wood will issue a proclamation, to-morrow to the effect that he considers the duty and great responsibility of his present office, to enforce the Maine Law to the full extent of his power.

Later from California—Arrival of the Northern Light.

New York, April 15

The steamship Northern Light arrived at this port this afternoon, bringing dates from San Francisco up to the 24th ult., about 50 cabin passengers, and $170,000 in specie on freight.

Very little of interest has transpired in Central America since the death of Chamorro.

The democratic party in Leon consists of about 2,000 soldiers under the command of General Munoz, who is an officer of undoubted bravery. He is expecting an early attack by the Legitimists, under the command of General Cassa, who has an army of 8,000 men under him.

It is reported and is generally believed that about 60 of Colonel Walker's emigrants left San Francisco about the middle of March, in a small vessel, bound to some port in Central America. Colonel Walker and a large number of his followers were actively and in private, preparing to follow, and had chartered two vessels for this purpose. Colonel Walker will unite his forces with General Munoz and it was though they would effect some important changes in Central America, and especially in Nicaragua.

The Nicaragua steamship company have discovered a very valuable coal mine, about twenty-five miles from San Juan Del Norte, and within sight of the coast.

The steamer City of Norfolk, from Australia, via Honolulu, arrived at San Francisco on the 19th.

Our correspondent at San Francisco writing on the 24th ult, says there has been but very little, if any improvement in financial affairs during the previous week. The rains had ceased and the weather had become unusually hot for the season of the year. The miners were generally doing well, though owing to the great scarcity of coal, with which to purchase the dust, little gold was coming forward.—The Kansas river has disappointed expectations, and many were returning disgusted and discouraged.

Captain Stedman of the bark America, who aided Monge, the forger, to escape, had returned to San Francisco, and reports that Monge and his friends are at or near Lahaina, Chili.

It was reported at San Francisco that Sanders, the extensive swindler and forger, escaped in the mail steamer for Panama, on the 15th ult.

A large invoice of cigars, worth $80,000, which had been smuggled across the Isthmus, were recently sold at San Francisco.

Lage, Bacon & Co. announce that they sold for some business on the 20th.

A prohibitory liquor law bill would, it was confidently expected, pass the Legislature during the present session.

George Stocfield of Nantucket was killed, on the 23d of March, while assisting in unloading the ship Comet.

Mr Charles Warner, formerly of New York, was accidentally killed at Sacramento on the 20th.

The Legislature has passed a registry law.

A telegraphic despatch to the Times and Transcript, dated Sacramento, March 23, says the members of the San Francisco delegation have given notice of an intention to abolish the city government of San Francisco, and appoint trustees to regulate its affairs.

Efforts are being made to amend the city charter of San Francisco.

A lump of gold, weighing 186 ounces and worth $3,375, was recently found by a miner in Trinity county.

Robinson, the bank robber, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $4,000 on each of the three bills found against him.

The miners at Spring Hill, Shaws Flat, and other places, are in considerable excitement, and have struck in order to compel the water company to reduce their rates.

Commercial.

The firm of Messrs. Adams & Co. suspended payment 25 to 30 cents on the dollar.

Messrs Page, Bacon & Co. were reported to have $600,000 in coin in their vaults, but wished to sold $100,000 more before they resumed payment, and their immediate cash liabilities amount to $700,000, and they have no prospect of opening until they are able to be able to go through.

The private mint of George H. Kellogg was coining about $40,000 per day.

The mint of San Francisco is closed for the annual settlement. It will probably be closed for a month.

The contractors engaged on the railroad from City Bay and that they in secure gold dust enough by the expenditure making to pay all expenses of its removal.

Many important bills have passed through the Legislature. A prohibitory liquor law has passed to be engrossed, in the Assembly. It is very similar to the Maine law, but it exempts from its provisions the native wine of the State. The State will probably be distracted, and a new election of Congress has been ordered.

W. A. Cornwell, Secretary of the Senate, has been expelled from his office on account of insulting an usage to one of the members.

A bill has passed for the survey and construction of a wagon road from Sacramento Valley to the eastern boundary of the State is under discussion in the Assembly. The bill appropriates $ 60,000 for the construction of the road.

Fresh Cuba.—Havana letters by the Crescent City report that Senor Xenda, who was in close confinement on board the prison ship, claims to be an American citizen. It was reported that the provocating hand had demanded the death, by the garrote, of three more distinguished Cubans, while many more had been ordered into exile. Several alleged citizens of the U. States are still in prison in Cuba.

The Hi-Peck, whose, is rest, in Cuba was reported by the Isabel, is a deniat belonging in New York city, and went to Cuba on the 8th of March set, for the benefit of his health at company with a young Cuban, whose father was extradited in ch, it is presumed, has led to the trouble, as it is asserted that Dr Peck is in no way connected with filibustering schemes.

Later from Havana.—New York April 16. The steamship Cahawba arrived at this port with dates from Havana to the 11th inst. Havana was quiet. Nothing of apparent interest was transpiring. The city was still garrisoned by the volunteers, the regular troops being nearly all stationed along the coast.

Mr. Peck, the New York dentist, recently arrested at Puerto Principe was released from prison the morning the Cahawba left, on the security of a friend that he would remain in Havana until his case was decided. Carlos Castillo had also been released from the Moro, and allowed to remain at his residence until the sailing of the packet for Cadiz.

Business was improving, and fine qualities of sugar had an advancing tendency.

The steamship Princeton was still at Havana, all well.

Search for the Cubans.—We were cautioned a few days ago by the statement that seventy-five tons of coin had been engaged as part cargo of a vessel now loading here for Constantinople. We learn today that the shippers are anxious to engage forty-five tons more, having one hundred and twenty to ship. Lest this heavy shipment of coin should alarm the Wall street financiers, we may as well add that it is all in kreutzers, (the copper coin of Germany, nearly equal in value to our cent,) are comprised a collection made, probably, from the money brought out by emigrants. It was taken by the vessel at $6 per ton freight. When it arrives the Mussulmans will be well supplied with "small change."—New York Journal of Commerce.

Great Fishing.—The Burlington Free Press relates a new and unique mode of fishing, which has been successfully tried in a trout stream of northern Vermont, and which we take pleasure in recommending to the attention of all long-nosed disciples of the famous Walton. The discovery was made a few days since by a wood chopper in Hyde park. Being thirsty with labor, he chopped a hole in the ice of a mountain stream, and laid himself down to drink. While in the act of imbibing the refreshing fluid, his head was suddenly and unexpectedly seized by a hungry brother of the brook, who buried his teeth deeply into the rosy protuberance, which he evidently thought was a savory morsel. The astonished woodcutter, whose storm endowed him with superhuman strength, threw up his head with a jerk, and pulled out upon the ice a splendid trout, which weighed two and a half pounds! The editor of the Free Press has dined with a man who saw the hoax and a written now, and vouches for the authenticity of this story. We do not believe, however, that this mode of fishing will come into vogue, and we advise those of our readers who are disposed to try it, to wear false noses!

The Resolution of Judge Loring.—On Saturday the Massachusetts House of Representatives came to a vote on the question of removing Judge Loring from the office of Judge of Probate for the county of Suffolk. Mr Ellis of Rochester moved to substitute the following amendment or the proposition of Mr Huntington

"Provided, however, that if the said Edward Greely Loring shall within three days after the adoption of this address by the Legislature, signify to a committee of both houses, that he has resigned his office as United States Commissioner, then this address shall not be presented."

The amendment of Mr Ellis was rejected by a vote of 171 to 146. The main question was then taken by yeas and nays, and the address to the Governor, for the removal of Judge Loring, was adopted by a vote of 201 to 111. The Traveller says the course of the Senate is not quite so clear.

One of Pharaoh's Darkies.—Lord Lindsay states that, in the course of his wanderings amid the pyramids of Egypt, he stumbled on a mummy, proved by its hieroglyphics to be at least 2000 years of age. In examining the mummy after it was unwrapped, he found in one of its closed hands a tuberous or bulbous root. He was interested in the question how long life could last, and he there and took the tuberous root from the mummy's hand, planted it in a sunny soil, allowed the rain and dews of heaven to descend upon it, and in the course of a few weeks, to his astonishment and joy, the root burst forth and bloomed into a beautiful dahlia.—New York Tribune.

Hatfield and Judas.—Benjamin F. Hallett was telling a witty Bostonian how terribly he was abused for his exertions in returning runaway slaves, saying that not only the stole on him, but good christian, conservative, conservative folks sometimes spoke of him and applied names to him; that they even called him Judas! "What," said Ben Hallett, "do you mean to say they do call me Judas?" "Yes, sir," said his friend, "it is all very well for you to say you don't care, but how do you suppose Judas likes it?"

Many people in Boston think that if Judas has any friends they should publish a card requesting that the sort of thing should be stopped, lest by and by his character should suffer.—New York Tribune, 9th

The Pacific Steamers.—A New York despatch of the 14th says

The steamer Jamestown during one of her trips from Virginia to this city, had a fugitive slave concealed on board, who escaped on reaching here, the city holding the Jamestown liable to conviction and heavy fine to the and imprisonment on the return of the vessel to Virginia. A compromise was, however, effected by the payment of the value of the slave $1200.

The New York Legislature adjourned on Saturday last—at the ripe old age of ninety days.

Canadian Wheat.—The Toronto Globe of the 7th, says it was finished that 200 000 bushels of wheat are stored in that city for the U. States market.

Notice to Log Owners,

THE owners of Logs now in the Penobscot Boom, or expected to come into it this season, are requested to hand in their marks to the Treasurer, or to C. F. Ellis, at the Boom House, immediately, as rafting will commence at once.—It is hoped that gentlemen will order their Logs of different marks rafted together as much as possible, as it will materially the speed and diminish the cost of rafting. The number of marks now in the boom is so immense that if each mark is rafted by itself the process must be slow and the cost great.

New York, April 15.—A meeting of the friends of Dr Charles A. Peck of this city, formerly secretary to Captain General of Cuba, was held last night. A full question has been propounded to Washington, to lay the facts of the case, so far as they are known, before the government, as the result of was apparent due to the conduct of a public meeting held at Tammany Hall, to express the rights of American citizens. At the meeting all private letters were read, which contained Dr Peck and his partner, a fellow student of the Doctor, in this city. Dr Peck was arrested at midnight, in his apartments, and personally, brutally insulted. Dr Peck was confined in a filthy dungeon at Cabanas, and surrounded by vile wretches. It was stated that the physician in charge expressed his doubts of his being retained in his present prison.

Dr Peck is a native of Philadelphia, and has been a resident of this city for the purpose of taking advantage of the best means to nullify a law recently passed by the New York Legislature. It was decided to raise a fund to secure the most eminent lawyers in the country to obtain their opinion as to the validity of the law. Over $3000 were subscribed. A Committee of Arrangements was appointed to co-operate with the retail Liquor Dealers Association, and also with the Committee of which have a cartel which will be given night. They adjourned to meet next week.

NEW DISCOVERY.

Brown's Compound for the Hair.

This compound has been prepared with the greatest care in the receipt of one of the first physicians of the City, and is decidedly preferable to any article of the kind which is before the public. Although but recently introduced, its advantages are acknowledged by many who have used it. It is a SURE REMEDY FOR BALDNESS, a certain preventive of the hair falling off and unequalled in promoting its growth and beauty. It can be safely relied on, and need only to be tried to be approved. Warranted to give satisfaction.

For sale by the Sole Proprietor, J. B. INGRAHAM, by appt. Bangor.

HOME TESTIMONY.

Every Sunday of Boston, proves that, by the use of a few bottles of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, he was cured of a deep seated cold and violent cough accompanied with night sweats and vomiting, with severe pain in the side, loss of appetite, &c. His physician had not relieved him, and a friend induced him to try the Balsam. He began to improve immediately, and in a few weeks was entirely cured. Surely such a remedy is worthy a trial.

Because it is signed I. BITTS.

Steam Ferry Boat for sale.

The Proprietors offer for sale the Steamboat "ELIZABETH," which for several years has run as a Ferry Boat between this city and Upper Ellsworth. She was built in 1847, measures 140 tons, is 106 feet in length, and has a low pressure engine of 40 horse power. With trifling expense she would make a good tow boat. She is a well built boat, and has an excellent engine. She will be sold at a bargain, and for "no fault"—a smaller boat, if any, being wanted, one that can be run at half the expense.
